THE HONORARY DEGREES

DOCTOR OF LAWS — JOHN DONALD HICKS

Distinguished historian and member of the class of 1913, and holder of a master's degree from his alma mater. He has left his mark as scholar, teacher, and administrator upon three major universities: Nebraska, Wisconsin, and California. A recognized authority on agricultural, political, and constitutional problems of the Middle West, he has trained numerous graduate students for the rigorous life of dedicated research, and in his widely used writings he has provided a generation of undergraduates with an objective and heartening introduction to their nation's heritage. Past President of the Mississippi Valley Historical Association and of the Pacific Coast Branch of the American Historical Association, he has also been Visiting Professor of American History and Institutions at the University of Cambridge. Northwestern University is proud to honor one of her outstanding sons.

Presented by Richard W. Leopold, Professor of History

DOCTOR OF LAWS — JAMES CUMMINGS BONBRIGHT

Outstanding educator, economist, public servant, and honored recipient of the Northwestern Alumni Award of Merit in 1954. As Professor of Finance at Columbia University, he has earned acclaim for his astute analyses of American financial policies and his ability to inspire his students with an understanding of and appreciation for the traditions and responsibilities of business. He has continued with enviable success the standards of scholarship so firmly held by his father, Daniel Bonbright, at Northwestern.

An untiring public servant, he has been an economic consultant to Congress, America's delegate to the World Power Conference, and an economic assistant to President Wilson's Inquiry Commission. He has been a devoted advocate of power and navigation development and has served as a trustee of the Power Authority of the State of New York.

He is the author of several books on finance and public utilities and has been honored by the Harvard Law School for distinguished writing in the legal field.

Presented by James F. Oates, Trustee of Northwestern University

DOCTOR OF SCIENCE — JOHN FRANKLIN ENDERS

Nobel Prize winner in medicine and physiology in 1954. Distinguished bacteriologist and virologist at Harvard University, and one of the leading microbiologists of his generation. He, together with his co-workers, set the stage for the development of poliomyelitis vaccine by the discovery that poliomyelitis virus could be cultivated in living tissue cells. This discovery has had a revolutionary effect on the methods of study of other viruses and, therefore, will lead rapidly to a better understanding of the nature of these disease producing agents.

His epochal contribution is recognized as marking an important turning point in man's battle to prevent the ravaging effects produced by infectious disease.

Presented by Guy P. Youmans, Professor of Bacteriology

DOCTOR OF LAWS — HOLLIS LELAND CASWELL

Outstanding educator, research worker, author, and college administrator. Through his writings and research he has improved the quality of teaching and increased the learning opportunities for children and youth throughout the United States and abroad. As a survey director and consultant in numerous American cities and as a leader in national professional societies and organizations, he has exercised great influence in stimulating the thinking and extending the vision of teachers in public and private schools at all educational levels.

He has been a classroom teacher and high school administrator, a professor, and a dean. Currently President of Teachers College, Columbia University, he continues to be preeminent in his ability to help fellow scholars reach high levels of personal and professional achievement.

Presented by Harold G. Shane, Professor of Education

DOCTOR OF FINE ARTS — LOTTE LEHMANN

Eminent concert and operatic soprano. Mme. Lehmann has rendered great service to the field of music by teaching the mastery of music interpretation to rising vocal artists. With outstanding success, she conducted a series of vocal lecture-demonstrations at Northwestern in 1955.

Renowned for her performances in the United States and Europe, she has been a member of the Metropolitan Opera and of the Chicago and San Francisco Civic Operas. She is Honorary President and Director of the Voice Department at the Music Academy of the West in Santa Barbara, California. Esteemed for her contributions, both as a performing artist and teacher, she has been made a Chevalier of the French Legion of Honor, has been awarded the Medal of Art by the government of Sweden and the Ring of Honor by the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra, and holds an honorary membership in the State Opera, Vienna.

Presented by George Howerton, Professor of Music History and Literature and Dean of the School of Music

DOCTOR OF LAWS — STANLEY PARGELLIS

Librarian preeminent and distinguished contributor to the advancement of learning in the Middle West. Ohio-born, educated both in this country and as a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford, he pursued a successful academic career as teacher and professor of history at three leading institutions until 1942 when he became librarian of the Newberry Library in Chicago. Not confining his interests to limited professional areas, he has displayed the imagination and vision to make the Newberry Library one of the most significant cultural centers in the entire Middle Western region. Thanks to his leadership, the Newberry Library enriches the community in a variety of outstanding ways, serving, for example, as a stimulating meeting place for gatherings of men and women of letters, as a haven for Poetry Magazine, and as a sponsor of highly prized Newberry fellowships. Northwestern University salutes an outstanding librarian who has achieved renown as an educational statesman as well.

Presented by Payson S. Wild, Vice-President and Dean of Faculties of Northwestern University

DOCTOR OF SACRED THEOLOGY — TAKESHI MUTO

Moderator of the Kyodan, the United Church of Christ in Japan. His contribution to the spiritual and educational forces of Japanese and world culture comes through his outstanding work as pastor, creative scholar and writer, translator, teacher, administrator, and representative of the Kyodan to various conferences of the World Council of Churches. Untouched by the bitterness of war, his clear vision and strong faith have been of immeasurable value in the rebuilding of Christian churches and schools in Japan.

It is to be noted with special pride that he studied at Garrett Biblical Institute and received an M.A. degree from Northwestern University in 1923. Even as the Church acclaims him one of her great leaders, Northwestern hails him as one of her most distinguished sons.

Presented by Harold A. Bosley, Trustee of Northwestern University

DOCTOR OF LAWS — JOHN JOHNSTON PARKER

United States Circuit Judge since 1925 and recipient in 1943 of the American Bar Association Medal for Conspicuous Service in the Cause of American Jurisprudence. As a lawyer he distinguished himself first in practice and later in government service. As a judge he has been fearless, wise, and scholarly, both in his long service on the Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit and as alternate member of the International Military Tribunal at Nuremberg. As chief judge of his circuit, as chairman of a special committee of the American Bar Association, and as Vice-President of the American Judicature Society, he has provided imaginative and effective leadership in the improvement of the administration of justice. As lecturer and writer he has restated in terms particularly meaningful for our times the basic philosophy of American constitutional democracy. As citizen and civic leader he has sagely counseled and nobly served his church, his university, his state, and his nation.

Presented by Willard H. Pedrick, Professor of Law

DOCTOR OF SCIENCE — THEODORE VON KARMAN

Distinguished scientist and engineer. He has formulated theories in diversified fields and is a pioneer in transforming engineering from art to science. He has contributed profoundly to applied mathematics, mechanics, aerodynamics, fluid mechanics, gas dynamics, and aerothermochemistry. A brilliant teacher, he has inspired many scholars all over the world. He combines knowledge and intuition in developing unusual devices which will soon take men to new frontiers outside this planet. A wise adviser to education, industry, and government, he has contributed immensely to the technological supremacy of his adopted country. As respected Chairman of the Advisory Group for Aeronautical Research and Development of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, he has brought together the scientists of the Western nations. He is the statesman of modern engineering and a unique protagonist of the air age.

Presented by Ali Bulent Cambel, Associate Professor of Mechanical Engineering

NINETY-EIGHTH COMMENCEMENT

DOCTOR OF LAWS — HARLAN HENTHORNE HATCHER

Distinguished author, teacher, historian, and university president. A native of Ohio, he is noted for his definitive writings on the history of that state, as well as for his incisive criticisms in the field of English literature. For many years a teacher at Ohio State University, where he was Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and, later, Vice-President of the university, he has gained equal renown since 1951 as the capable President of the University of Michigan. His significant contributions in more than one field of endeavor have earned him the deserved reputation of fine scholar and outstanding administrator.

Presented by Kenneth F. Burgess, President of the Board of Trustees of Northwestern University

THE DEGREES IN COURSE

THE MEDILL SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM

Candidates Presented by DEAN KENNETH E. OLSON

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN JOURNALISM

Harlan Charles Abbey, B.J., University of Missouri, 1952.
Kamal Uddin Ahmad, B.A., University of Calcutta, 1943.
Patricia Ann Aldred, A.B., Antioch College, 1952.
James Martin Bailey, B.A., University of Iowa, 1951.
Sylvia Ann Barkocy, B.S. in Journalism, Northwestern University, 1954.
George Alexander Baum, B.S. in Journalism, Northwestern University, 1955.
Joseph Carl Blade, B.S. in Journalism, Northwestern University, 1955.
John Edward Caraway, B.S., Northwestern University, 1954.
Richard James Dixon, B.S. in Journalism, Northwestern University, 1953.
William Francis Freeman, B.S., Kent State University, 1955.
Jerol Herried Garrison, B.S.J., University of Arkansas, 1953.
James Willard Harper, B.S. in Journalism, Northwestern University, 1954.
Robert Long Kocher, B.S., Kent State University, 1954.
John William Kole, B.A., Michigan State College, 1955.
Christ William Lecos, B.S.J., University of Illinois, 1952.
Robert Samuel Magee, B.S. in Journalism, Northwestern University, 1955.
Jean Elizabeth Mayfield, B.A., Willamette University, 1953.
David Michael Mazie, B.S. in Journalism, Northwestern University, 1955.
Mary Frances Mills, B.A., De Paul University, 1951.
Günther Morgenstern, University of Erlangen, 1953.
Robert Edge Mulholland, B.S. in Journalism, Northwestern University, 1955.
Carol Dean Muller, B.S. in Journalism, Northwestern University, 1955.
Edward Allen O'Hara, B.A., De Paul University, 1951.
Roger Anderson Pihl, A.M., University of Michigan, 1950.
Louis Joseph Rose, B.A., Bates College, 1954.
Charlece Harston Saunders, B.A., University of Iowa, 1942.
Richard Vasquez Solano, B.S. in Journalism, Northwestern University, 1955.
Royal Raymond Stewart, Jr., B.S. in Journalism, Northwestern University, 1955.
Margaret Harriett Walz, B.S. in Journalism, Northwestern University, 1955.
Eugene Wesoloski, B.S. in Journalism, Northwestern University, 1953.
Jane Elisabeth Young, B.S. in Journalism, Northwestern University, 1955.

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN JOURNALISM

Lois Ann Abram	Ronald Buford Kaatz
Richard Eugene Aultman	Frederick Arlan Krueger, Jr.
Raymond Joseph Bendig	Ila Jean Levin
Elizabeth Cheyne Boyd	Arlene Joann Lokar
David Young Burkett III	Eileen Bathey Maloney
Richard Altice Carter	Donald Burnell Malm
Suzanne Constant Centlivre	Robert Dean Manewith
Truman Linden Chiles, Jr.	Richard Alan Marseille
Jean Laverne Christensen	Garry Kent Marshall
